

Dr. Cook Named Golf Club Prexy

At a directors' meeting held following a Golf Club stockholders' meeting at Shoppenagons Inn last Thursday evening, Dr. J. T. Cook was elected as the new President of the Grayling Golf Club for 1947. Harold MacNeven was named Vice-President and Don Gothro, Secretary-Treasurer.

Directors elected were: For three years—Dr. Cook, Harold MacNeven, Dr. C. G. Clippert; for two years—Menno Corwin, Wilhelm Rase, Roy Milnes; for one year—Carl Johnson, T. P. Peterson, Esbern Olson.

Newly-elected President, Cook made the appointment of the Greens Committee immediately, naming Roy Milnes as chairman, and Menno Corwin and Esbern Olson as members.

It was reported at the meeting that the initial goal of $5,000, to be used in reconditioning and opening the course was nearly fully pledged. Work on the clubhouse is nearing completion, while labor has begun to earn on the rebuilding of the greens. At the present rate of operation, the club should be ready for play in an extremely short time.

The club board of directors discussed ground fees for this year and began planning promotion of a series of events to take place throughout the summer at the clubhouse. Clarence "Johnny" Johnson, who is in charge of the rehabilitation program at the clubhouse and course, will manage the club when it opens.

"Youth States" To Train 1,116

Resuming long-established practice, The American Legion of Michigan, and its Auxiliary, will sponsor Wolverine Boys and Girls States during the period June 12 to 24.

Nine hundred high school boys, an increase of 100 over last year's enrollment, will assemble on the Michigan State College campus at East Lansing, June 12, to become citizens of the Legion's 10th annual Wolverine Boys' State.

Five days later, the Legion Auxiliary will open its 7th annual Wolverine Girls' State on the University of Michigan campus at Ann Arbor, on June 17, with 216 Michigan high school girls enrolled.

Training in democracy is the primary purpose of these annual programs. At East Lansing, the Boys' States will be divided equally into two political parties. They will establish city and county governments, and set up a mythical "49th State" patterned exactly after the Commonwealth of Michigan. They will nominate and elect their own city, county and state officers, adopt their own ordinances and laws, and carry out all the functions of democratic government. During their 10-day stay on the M. S. C. campus, they will be housed in the quonset huts that provided living quarters for T. students during the college year.

Much the same procedure will be followed at Ann Arbor where the 216 Girls' States will make their headquarters for one week at Stockwell Hall. As a teaching and counseling staff, the Legion and Auxiliary have obtained the services of competent educators, experienced civic and state officials, and a corps of well known lawyers and jurists, who will instruct the youthful citizens in the practical art of self-government.

Despite all the hub-dub at Lansing, the state liquor monopoly will remain unchanged. The Tripp bill, which would have sold packaged liquor at doing all right as it is. They sold 61.94 percent of the liquor purchased in Michigan last year, an increase of 10 percent over the preceding year. Bar sales dropped in 1946 from 34 to 22 percent. Package dealers total 18,443; bars, 2,768. Distillery prices are due to skid. Distillers are now able to produce eight times as much as the public consumes.

"Drink milk and save" is the 1947 theme of June Dairy Month. Health experts insist that the 12 ounces of milk is the equivalent of calcium in 3 pounds of broccoli, vitamin B2 in 10 pounds of steak, protein of two pork chops, vitamin A in two eggs, phosphorus in two pounds of whole fish, energy values of 10 slices of bread, and thiamin in four ounces of liver.

Michigan's 1947 spring has been the wettest on record. Brrrr!

Prepared For Polio Outbreak

If polio strikes anywhere in Michigan this summer, the State Health Department and county chapters of the National Foundation will co-operate closely to meet all emergencies. National Foundation State Representative Donald W. Barton declared this week.

Reporting on the "Preparedness Conference" on Polio, held in Lansing May 14, Barton said that emergency treatment centers could be "set up almost overnight" if present facilities prove inadequate. Present facilities will take care of a normal load of patients at one time, Mr. Barton said. If the number of cases should show signs of going above that, emergency centers would be set up in stricken areas. "As in the past," he asserted, "the National Foundation would send in funds, equipment and trained personnel and place them at the disposal of local and state health authorities."

He cited the Foundation's role in the Minnesota epidemic of last year when nearly 21,000,000, scores of iron lungs and "hot pack" machines, and 235 physical therapists were sent to help local and state authorities meet emergencies.

At the Lansing conference, co-operation between official state agencies and the Foundation's county chapters was endorsed by Governor K. M. Sigler, whose daughter "Bey" died of polio in 1934.

Referring to the National Foundation's tremendous research program, Governor Sigler said that the "real hope" for final victory over this terrible disease lay in science.

Loses License, Pays Fine On Driving Charge

Warren Gale Gillespie of Bay City lost his chauffeur's license for three months and was fined $50 and costs of $4.35 by Justice Emil Giegling last week, following his arrest on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Gillespie was arrested by Sgt. Welsh of the Gaylord State Police Post on US-27 north of Frederic, on Tuesday, June 3.

Canoe Race Trial Starts

Under a smiling sun and a lazy, cloud-studded blue sky, four canoes left Grayling early Monday morning on the AuSable River for a trial run to Oscoda. Two canoes from Oscoda and one each from Mio and Grayling, are making the run in a scheduled three days to gather information and data for a general meeting of the marathon race committee which is scheduled at the Welcome Hotel in Oscoda for June 17.

The Grayling canoe was furnished by the Borchers Canoe Company; it is a new Grumman aluminum craft and was piloted by Jack Hull and Charles Duncan, of Grayling. The Grayling team were picked up in Oscoda, Wednesday, by Chamber President Wesley Kumpula. The data gathered in the trial run is being assembled and catalogued for the general meeting next week.

Services were held at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, June 11, in Roscommon, for Hurl D. Millikin, who passed away on June 8. The choir presented the music. Rev. T. Warke officiated and burial was in the Higgins Cemetery.

Mr. Millikin was born in Kingsport, Tuscola County, January 3, 1900, to William and Helen Millikin. He lived in Lapeer County before moving to Crawford County, where he attended the Beaver Creek School. He married Marguerite Palmer in Grayling on September 16, 1923, and the couple lived in Williamston and Oscoda, and, finally, Roscommon, Michigan. He was a painter and a sufferer from tuberculosis for two and a half years, and was a patient at the Gaylord Sanatorium at the time of his death.

Surviving besides his wife are three sons: Hurl N., Jack Freeman and Robert L. Millikin, and a daughter, Joyce Ann, as well as three sisters: Mrs. F. L. VanSickle of Fife Lake, Mrs. A. Worden of Grayling, Mrs. F. E. Warner of Lansing, and four brothers: Wm. Claire of Kalkaska, J. C. and Ralph Millikin of Grayling, and Frank Millikin of Roscommon.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends.

NYC To Begin Vacation Run

The New York Central's summer vacationland train, "The Timberliner," will make its first run of the 1947 season between Detroit and Mackinaw City, Friday, June 27, and continue service until the week-end following Labor Day, it was announced today.

The "Timberliner" and its schedule are designed to accommodate those who have summer homes in upper Michigan, or who wish to spend their week-ends in the invigorating outdoors of a great fishing country. It will serve the famous vacation land along the New York Central, including such well-known spots as Grayling, Gaylord, Vanderbilt, Indian River and Cheboygan.

Soldier bonus applications now are being processed at the rate of more than 3,000 per day, Brig. Gen. LeRoy Pearson, state adjutant general, in charge of the bonus payments, revealed today. In getting the bonus machinery to handle 3,000 applications a day, State officials have accomplished in 60 days what they previously thought would take six months.

NEW CITIZEN . . . Ida Lupino, film actress, leaves the Los Angeles department of justice office after passing her citizenship examination. Miss Lupino was born in London but has long wanted to be an American.

Kiwanis Club Notes

The regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling convened at Shoppenagons Inn at 9:30 Sunday morning for breakfast. Following the meal, and a few short announcements, the club adjourned and moved in a body to the Michelson Memorial Church for services.

Rev. R. C. Puffer, who is a member of the club, used as his sermon theme for the services, "Christianity, A Man's Religion." The Sunday morning breakfast and church services were carried out under the direction of the club's education committee, headed by Alfred Sorenson.

The next meeting of the club will be held on June 16 at the City Park in the form of a picnic, with each member bringing his own lunch. The program of the evening will be a softball practice under the direction of the Kiwanis team captain, Roy Milnes.

The club will meet a Grayling Lions Club team in a series of five games this summer, with the first to be played at 6:30 p. m., June 27, at the City Park.

Sheriff, Police Warn Cyclists

Sheriff William Golinick and Police Chief George Bielski today issued a joint warning to bicycle and motorcycle riders that State Rules of the Road concerning them would be strictly enforced by the authorities.

A number of complaints received by both men concerning willful violation of the rules by both motorcycleists and bicyclists has brought the action of strict and unyielding enforcement of the law.

Following are the rules governing bicycles and motorcycles as compiled by the Secretary of State and the Michigan State Police:

1. Riders must sit upon the regular seat of their vehicles.
2. No person may be carried upon a bicycle or motorcycle except upon a firmly attached and regular seat.
3. Riders may not carry any package, bundle or article which prevents keeping both hands upon the handle bars.
4. Bicycles and motorcycles may not be ridden more than two abreast.
5. Bicycles must be equipped with a front lamp which gives a white light visible for 300 feet and a rear lamp or reflector visible for 200 feet.
6. No person shall ride a bicycle unless it is equipped with a suitable bell or other warning device.
7. No person riding upon a bicycle shall hitch onto any vehicle on the highway.

War Fund Writes "Fimis"

Final chapter in a three-year story of generosity and service on the part of the people of Michigan was written in Lansing on Monday, June 9, when D. Hale Brake signed his name to a check for $27,000 which represents the final payment of the Michigan United War Fund to the National War Fund.

During the three years the people of Michigan gave and paid to the War Fund more than fifteen and a half million dollars for the support of the USO and war relief agencies—Brake, State Treasurer, served as treasurer of the Michigan United War Fund for the three years.

Howard Lawrence, Grand Rapids industrialist, served as president of the War Fund during the first year, and A. L. Miller, Battle Creek publisher, was president during the remaining two years.

More than ten thousand volunteer workers, from every county of the state, are the unsung heroes of the fifteen and a half million dollar campaign. Only one other state, California, exceeded Michigan's performance for the service men and the stricken peoples of war devastated lands.

Reason To Be Grateful . . .

The contributions of medical science to the welfare of the American people have occurred gradually over many years. Some of them have been little publicized, and are not known as widely as they should be.

The New York Times recently ran an editorial on the Centenary of the American Medical Association. It observed that it had disagreed with some of the Association's policies. But, it pointed out, "during the long decades when the government was indifferent to the quality of foods and drugs and the patent medicine man was in his heyday, the Association was a bulwark of protection. Quacks were pursued, educational standards were raised, drugs were appraised, hospitals and schools were approved or disapproved, a dozen first-class medical publications . . . were made indispensable purveyors of knowledge, nostrums were exposed as the frauds that they were, fads were riddled. For all these blessings the public has reason to be grateful."

The Association, as the principal and oldest medical organization of its kind, has been the leader in this work. Many groups have aided. The result is the high standard of health enjoyed by the American people. Medicine has fully realized and accepted its grave responsibilities to the country. Its work is never-ending—and its achievements grow with the passing years.

When Johnny walked home later that evening he had decided on a bold plan. He had talked about it with Kit and together they had decided that it was worth a try.
Johnny was to go over to the Settlement and out to the plants early in the morning and try to solicit help to finish the Park project. The men and himself would go to the park

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Here's to the Women-Folk!

There's a line at the heading of the Woman's Column in my paper that reads:

"Women through the years have stood Keepers of the flame..."

Pretty easy to see what it means;
whether it's the flame on the hearth, or the candle in the window, or the feeling of warmth that surrounds a home.

It's the women who are guardians of the things we cherish about homelife—who are tolerant of ashes on the rug; the rings a glass of beer can leave on tables; or the comfortable but too-worn chair that we can't bear to throw away.

From where I sit, those little satisfactions become more and more important in this world of strife and change. Smoke rings curling from a mellow pipe; a glass of beer; a comfortable chair before the fire. And I'd like to salute the housewives—"keepers of the flame"—whose tolerance and understanding helps preserve them!

ment they could muster and begin work where the laborers had left off twenty-three years ago. Kit believed, as did Johnny, that once they had the nerve to start work on the unfinished park, Mrs. Martin would not have them stopped.
Perhaps she was even sorry for her decision, but would not give up unless she saw a way to save face.
and when she saw that the men of the town meant business, she would keep hands off and let them finish their park.

Johnny thought with enthusiasm of the group that would march to Martindale Park tomorrow. Martindale Park. He turned the name over in his mind and decided he did not like its sound. It should be named for his mother, Linda. Park Linda. Yes, he decided, that would be it. That would please her. He hurried on back to the office, where he knew J. D. would still be working. He would like the name Park Linda, too.

Johnny had no trouble whatsoever
the next morning rounding up the men who were not at work at the plants. They were all enthused with his idea and believed, as did Johnny, that Jennifer Martin would not try to stop them.

It was a morning early in October when the little group, with picks and shovels thrown over their sturdy shoulders, walked in a body from the Settlement toward Martindale.
They had decided the best plan was to start work at once, for if they waited until spring, half the summer would be wasted before they could manage to complete it.
If they started now they could at least make a good beginning by finishing some of the buildings.
They would get an appropriation from the Council for the expense of the lumber they would need.
J. D. had promised to see to that.

When they reached the park site
the view before them and Jerry was employed at one of the plants, but only managed to work when sober, which was little.

"Hello, Jerry. Want a job?" Johnny asked him before the other had a chance to speak.

"Heck, no!" He spit on the ground near Johnny.

The men gathered closer around them. Something was definitely in the air and they did not want to miss anything.

"What's the big idea of starting this thing again?" he continued.
"Since when do my friends have to work at this lousy hole? Some more of your grandmother's famous generosity, Davis?"

Johnny looked at him for a moment, so taken back as he was by the man's words and attitude, and then, without waiting a second longer, he gave the fellow the answer he had so plainly asked for. Murphy went sprawling to the ground the moment Johnny's right made contact with his square chin. Murphy tried to spring back to his feet, but the blow, along with his drunken condition, kept him on the ground while Johnny stood above him.

"Get up, Murphy. But get this!
These men and I intend to finish this park. What's wrong, man? This park is for the kids. You've got children, Murphy. Don't you want them to have a place to play—a swimming pool?" Johnny asked him.

"I don't want anything to do with old lady Martin," he answered gruffly.

When Johnny started back toward town for lunch, Jerry Murphy walked along beside him.

"Look, Davis, maybe I was wrong about you, but I still am plenty hipped about that old lady. Why, the way she skinned us in court to get out of paying for my old man's killing... well, I'll get her yet.
You can count on that!"

"I can't figure how it was her fault, Murphy. Just because your father had an accident?"

"Accident, was it?" He stopped walking. His face took on an ugly expression.

"All right, Murphy. I'm sure I didn't know anything about it. I wasn't on the jury; it's not for me to say. Shall we forget it?" He wanted to keep peace as nearly as he could with this trouble-maker.

"No, I'll not forget it, Davis. I ain't going to be forgetting anything like that what she done." With this, he left Johnny, turning the corner and disappearing from sight.

Johnny had lunch with J. D. and stopped by the Clarion office long enough to report to Kit that all had gone well during the morning. He thought it best not to mention his altercation with Murphy. She seemed pleased that everything had gone so smoothly for them and gave him a special smile as he left the office.

He did not go directly to the park after noon. He thought it best to walk past the Settlement and see how many men were intending to go with him, so he walked toward that direction. A group of them met him halfway, however, anxious to do their share of the work, too.

Johnny had no premonitions now when returning to the park site. This morning he had wondered just how far his bold plan would get,
but having gone through the morning without any notice from the house on the top of the hill, he felt certain that the worst was over.
The men talked together and seemed as fired with enthusiasm as did the men who had worked the morning with him.

Waiting for them in the clearing they had made that morning was a group of uniformed men. Johnny recognized the policemen at once and knew by their expressions that the job was against their liking.

McCleary, Chief of Police, walked over to Johnny.

"Johnny, I'll have to be askin' you and yer men to leave without any trouble, m'boy." He looked at Johnny to see what effect his orders would have with him.

The Plan Is Temporarily Suspended

Johnny felt the unrest behind him and heard the men talking among themselves, and he knew there was liable to be trouble. Knowing this would only do harm, he turned to them.

"We might as well go home, men.
It won't do any good to start trouble. These men aren't enemies. They are merely enforcing the law—their job."

"That's right, men. Do you think we'd be out here if that—if Henry Martin hadn't made us come?" Mc-Cleary spoke up, showing his feeling for Martin only too plainly.

Johnny caught a spark of hope.
Henry Martin, McCleary had said.
Then it wasn't his grandmother this time. Unless she had asked her son to call the police, which was unlikely. Jennifer Martin took care of her own affairs. Well, they would leave now, but not without hope. Because now there was a chance.

The next few weeks were weeks of waiting for Johnny, who had not decided on just what plan to follow after the failure of his last attempt at park building.

He spent much of his time in the office and managed to keep pretty busy. However, his mind was always wandering back to the familiar subject and it was at these times that J. D. or Kit helped him.

He learned much about Kit during those days. And the more he knew the more he loved her. Somehow, she was everything he had over-dreamed of in a girl. He even decided that it was she who had been dreaming of through the long winter of wa.

They talked of many things—she, J. D. and Johnny—during the hours when they were alone in the office. And Johnny always sensed a feeling of encouragement in her presence.

The annual football game of Lexington and Martinsburg was scheduled for October 15th. It was the most bitterly contested game of the season. J. D. and Johnny were counting on going and it was a pleasant surprise to Johnny when Kit accepted J. D.'s invitation to go with them and sit on the players' bench, where press men were privileged to sit.

She mentioned quite casually to Johnny that Basil was out-of-town that week-end. This erased some of the pride of her acceptance for Johnny, but he was not to be subdued and planned to make the best of the evening in Basil's absence.

As they were waiting in front of her aunt's house for her the evening of the game, J. D., sitting behind the wheel of the Clarion's old jalopy, turned to Johnny.

"You know, son—I could manage to get a splitting headache right about now."

Johnny looked out and laughed a little.

"No, J. D. Don't think it would do any good. Seems as though the lady's sold on Basil."

"Well, son, when I was your age seems to me that women were noted for changing their minds."

"Ah, but not this one." He might have continued had not Kit walked down the steps at that moment.

"Hello, Johnny—J. D. It's been a long time since I've been out with two such handsome men." She climbed in the car and sat between
them.

"Pretty exciting, isn't it? I don't think your boy friend would quite approve, Kit." J. D. threw her a sly smile.

"I don't think so, either, J. D.— and that's what makes it so exciting."

"That should put us in our place, Johnny. Bait boys!" J. D. and Johnny laup

Survey, today urged all Michigan citizens to join in the celebration of National Taxpayer Week, June 8 to June 14, inclusive.

Mr. Steffens, in a letter to the Survey members, expressed gratitude to Mr. Andy Anderson, Oklahoma taxpayer, for his action in reminding Americans of their time-honored but oft-neglected rights. He also urged every citizen of Michigan to place himself on record with Congress on the question of economy vs. spending during the second week in June.

In his letter to the Michigan Survey membership, Mr. Steffens said: "The battle ground for the 'Battle of the Budget' is the floor of the United States Senate. The outcome of this battle depends upon the amount of interest every citizen shows in helping to bring about a balanced Federal budget, a reduced national debt and lower Federal taxes. Taxpayers should write their Senators—Arthur Vandenberg and Homer Ferguson, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.—today and urge their support to every measure to reduce government costs."

"In 1946," Mr. Steffens pointed out, "consumption expenditures for food are estimated at $7.3 billion dollars. On the basis of preliminary estimates for the first quarter of 1947, this year's bill may rise to $11 billion dollars. Federal governmental expenditures for 1946 were $3.3 billion dollars, and estimated figures for 1947 run governmental costs to $3 billion dollars."

"It is high time," Mr. Steffens remarked, "that taxpayers assert their rights and refuse to feed the tapeworms of bureaucratic tax-eaters."

"Congress," he said, "is exercising its Constitutional right in attempting to secure fiscal sanity in Federal spending. Bureaucrats are exercising their 'acquired' rights by translating every proposed reduction into the worst possible form; we, as citizens, must now exercise our rights by placing ourselves on record with our Congressional delegation in Washington on the question of needed economy vs. bureaucratic spending."

Mr. Anderson's proclamation, perhaps the first ever issued by a private citizen, reads as follows:

"Whereas, it now costs the average American more to be governed than it does to eat; and

"Whereas, every effort of our Congress to reduce its tremendous cost is being sabotaged by federal bureaucrats;

"I, by the authority vested in me as a private American citizen under Amendment One of the Constitution of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week of June 8 to June 14, inclusive, NATIONAL TAXPAYER WEEK; and

"Further, I am asking every American citizen who desires to keep America solvent and free to invest with me 15 minutes of his time and nine cents in postage to write his Congressman and two Senators demanding a halt to wartime spending on the part of the federal government."

MICHIGAN Motoring

We know it's summertime officially when the State Highway Commission puts the Summer schedule of the Michigan State Ferries into effect. It means the motorcade to Michigan's beautiful northland is on in earnest. All this point to a great influx of tourists from outside as well as the State.

The opening date this year is June 16 and from then until September 8 there will be 19 ferry trips daily each way. First boat daily leaves Mackinaw City at 6:30 a. m. Ferries will leave every hour on the half-hour until 10:30 p. m. Final trips will be at 1:30 a. m. and 4:30 a. m. The day's schedule at St. Ignace opens at 6:00 a. m. with trips every hour thereafter, on the hour, until 9:00 p. m. Last three trips will leave at 11:00 p. m., midnight and 3 a. m.

"Making" the ferries brings the temptation to step on the gas. Now is the time to check your tires carefully. A blow-out could cause a tragedy.

Health NEWS

Life Expectancy

The American infant born today has a life expectancy of sixty-five years, whereas one born in 1900 had an expectancy of but forty-nine years, statistics just released by the American Medical Association reveal.

This statement dramatizes in a few words the effectiveness of a medical and public health program that has been carried out in this country by organized medicine—national, state and local.

But how has medical science accomplished this?

Development of modern medicine and of improved techniques such as the X-rays and modern sanatorium equipment and treatment, plus better knowledge of nutrition and of the importance of more healthful housing, have reduced the number of deaths from tuberculosis.

Better hospitalization, diagnoses and nursing, augmented by the discovery of sulfa drugs and penicillin, have reduced the mortality rate from pneumonia.

These are but two examples, and many more could be cited.

One of the more important factors has been the fact that newspaper and medical organizations have cooperated as they are in this column, to bring information to newspaper readers as to what constitutes good medical care and healthful living.

And when we are informed that life expectancy for an upper class Roman at the heyday of the famed Roman Empire was about twenty-five years, we gain a greater appreciation of the fact that health work REALLY pays—in both prolonged life and added earning power.

"Health News" is presented by your Doctor of Medicine as a health service of the Michigan State Medical Society.

CRAWFORD COUNTY LIBRARY

The June selection of the Literary Guild is "Kingsblood Royal", the new Sinclair Lewis novel that was creating a nation-wide sensation even before it was released to the 600,000 members of the Guild, and now leads the lists of the nation's best-sellers.

Characterized by "Newsweek" as "America's angry man", the 62-year-old Lewis has written his twentieth novel, an angry, bitter one, in the tradition of "Main Street", "Elmer Gantry", and "It Can't Happen Here". Published by Random House with the slogan, "A blazing story with a theme that will jolt the nation", it is being hailed as the modern "Uncle Tom's Cabin".

Neil Kingsblood was a young banker in a small, Minnesota city. He was successful, respected and admired by his fellow townspeople, happily married, devoted to bridge, hunting, home, a kindly and thoroughly contented young man. That is, until he began investigating an old family legend that the Kingsbloods were descended from the royal line of England. In the course of his investigation, he made the shocking discovery that one of his ancestors was a full-blooded Negro. This, in the state where a "negro" was defined as anyone having even one drop of African blood! Brought face to face with a social situation he had never even thought of before, this pleasant, successful business and family man suddenly decided that such situations are utterly intolerable, and that he has

The affair was held at Kingsley Hall in Bloomfield Hills. No definite date has been set for the wedding. Mrs. Meisel visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Zohott, and daughter, Shirley, while in Detroit.

The Clarence Thompson family moved to Owosso, Tuesday, to make their home there. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moss are happy over the arrival of a son, Robert Stewart, born on June 5, at the Columbus Hospital, North Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. He weighed 5 pounds, 9 ounces. Mrs. Moss, the former Elaine Kraus, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kraus, of Chicago and Lake Margrethe.

We have a large assortment of Swimming Trunks—at Olson's. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Patterson left for Detroit Wednesday night. They had been guests of Mrs. Patterson's sister, Mrs. Lula Shaw.

Seek State's Largest Tree

Where is the biggest tree in Michigan?

That's a question that members of the department of forestry at Michigan State College are often asked to answer. And since Michigan has a few million trees, they just don't have the answer at their finger tips.

Paul A. Herbert, head of the department of forestry at MSC, hopes to find the answer, and as a lure is offering a half-gallon of pure maple syrup to the individual who reports the tree with the largest circumference.

Just reporting won't be enough—the forestry department members naturally are going to check the biggest ones reported to determine the winner.

Trees should be measured in circumference at a height of 4 1/2 feet above the ground. Information should give an accurate account of the location by land description.

Labor Day, 1947, has been set as the final day for receipt of entries. They should be mailed to: Lester Bell, Forestry Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

Use Safety Picnic Fires

Do you know the simple rules of safety to follow with fires at your summer picnics and camping trips?

Long years of experience have taught us a few rules that apply whether the fire is built in a field, in the woods or along the roadside. Fred W. Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State College, says the rules are easy to follow.

Before you build a fire, scrape away all leaves, twigs, dry grass and papers from a circle five feet across. Dig a hole in the middle and build a small fire in it. Never build it against trees or logs, or near brush.

Never leave a fire until it is out. Put it out by stirring the coals while soaking them with water. Wet sticks on both sides and wet the ground around the fire. If there is no water, stir in moist earth and tread it down tight over the fire.

Be sure the match that lighted the fire is out. Break it in two before you throw it away. That cigarette or cigar stub pipe ashes are dead before they get into brush, leaves, or needles.
